Long Battle on Relief Looms for Assembly Session

LAWMAKERS AT ODDS ON BILL TO AID NEEDY

Legislators Present Dozen Different Views on Ways to Solve Problem.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Members of the Ohio general assembly will convene in special session next Monday with widely divergent views regarding legislation to meet immediate and permanent relief needs, leading possibly to another heated and extended session, a United Press poll indicated today.

Replies from more than one-fourth of the 171 representatives and senators indicated the legislators hold little hope of reaching a speedy solution in the present relief crisis, aggravated by the current sharp downward trend in business.

Favor Fund Matching.

Almost a dozen different matching schemes were proposed, with the 50-50 ratio most widely advocated. Fifteen legislators favored equal contributions from the state and local governments; 12 urged 100 per cent state contribution.

A few opposed any permanent program, contending care of the needy was purely a local matter. One legislator asserted the state's continued participation in relief would "ruin the morals of the people."

On the other hand, Rep. Louis N. Laderman, D., Lucas county, warned that unless a program is agreed upon, marches on the state capital and city halls would result, leading to possible "riots and bloodshed."

He predicted a sharp clashing of interests in the legislature.

"It will be a good fight, with no holds barred," he said.

Gov. Davey's program for 1938, calling for 50-50 matching with a state expenditure of $7,500,000 received the unqualified support of only 14 legislators replying to the poll.

21 Oppose Plan.

Twenty-one flatly opposed the program, and six others held divided sentiments.

The state's share would be financed from $6,000,000 in sales tax revenues and the remainder in admissions tax revenues.

A few, including Reps. William M. McCulloch, Miami, minority floor leader, and H. H. Cully, D., Cuyahoga, expressed fear that the proposed expenditure would be insufficient to meet relief costs in view of the current business recession.

Tenderfoot 'Bad Men' Face Murder Charge

TRAIN ROBBERY FIZZLES, SHOTS KILL TRAINMAN

Southerner Fells Gunmen With Fistic Blows; Passengers Tie Them to Seats.

LAS CRUCES, N. M.—(AP)—Two young eastern tenderfeet whose attempt to hold up a crack transcontinental train ended when a husky yardman went into action with his fists admitted in jail today "we know we're both where we belong."

District Attorney Martin Threet said Henry Lorenz, 22, of Manitowoc, Wis, and Harry Dwyer, 27, of Digby county, Canada, admitted firing the shots which killed one man before 150 enraged passengers overpowered them as they attempted to flee the train.

Threet said "I intend to file charge of train robbery and murder" against them.

Felled by Blows.

Roger Moon, 29-year-old Southern Pacific yardman of Douglas, Ariz., knocked one of the gunmen unconscious, edged his way to the other end of the Apache Limited's first day coach and battered the second bandit to the floor after W. L. Smith, El Paso switchman, had been fatally wounded.

"One of the robbers stuck a gun in my ribs and told me to move up with the others," Moon said. "When he came up to me I pulled out my wallet and gave him two bills.

"'Watch this guy,' the robber said to his companion, pointing to me. 'He seems too cool'."

Upon command of the bandits, the conductor brought the train to a halt. Then Sipple Webb, 65-year-old El Paso colored man, tripped Lorenz, who shot at Webb as he fell sidewise.

Moon came up under Lorenz' gun and drove a hard right to his jaw, knocking him out.

Dwyer started back toward his fallen companion, but was tackled by Smith, whom he shot.

Moon hit the bandit twice in the face, and his pistol flew out of his hand.

They were in New York, they told officers, when they decided to see the West. In El Paso, they bought horses and cowboy regalia and planned the train holdup.

Near Mt. Smith they drew their guns and forced Conductor W. M. Holloway, and Brakeman Jim Velsir to the head of the train.

Lorenz proceeded through the cars removing money and valuables from passengers.

Near Hachita, N. M., they commanded the conductor to stop the train. It was then Moon opened his attack.

Up and Down THE STREET

Richard Lewis, a Mansfield high school graduate, is going to learn about flour mills in a big way. A sophomore at Kansas State, Manhattan, Kan., Lewis was one of 27 members of his class chosen to make a tour of all the leading flour mills in the mid-west. The inspection tour will take the group as far north as Minnesota.

Bob Simon, who went from the Mansfield Community Players to join the staff of the Cleveland Playhouse, is going through some of the "sacrifices for art's sake," and incidentally making good in a big way. Scheduled to play in "Green Bay Tree" at the little theater of the Playhouse, he was switched to "Excursion" at the big theater when he did so well in his first play "Noah." For his new role, he had to have his hair dyed a bright red, and has to have it curled for each performance. Mansfield visitors to the Playhouse were told that besides his rapid strides in acting, he is doing an outstanding job in designing and building stage sets.

What Mansfielder is taking a ribbing from his wife today because he insisted that Thanksgiving dinner be out of the way in plenty of time for him to hear the broadcast of the Alabama-Vanderbilt football game and then fell asleep just before Alabama scored its touchdown in the closing minute of the first half, and snored unconcernedly on while Vanderbilt took the lead, waking up only in time to hear the account of Alabama's game-winning field goal?

Mansfield will be in full holiday dress Saturday as the Christmas shopping season officially gets under way. Central park will serve as a hub for the city's holiday decorations which include wreaths on lamp posts and streamers over the streets. The fountain in the park has been decorated to resemble a huge bell and tall Christmas trees have been erected on each side of the walks leading into the park from the east and west. All the colored lights throughout the city will be turned on tomorrow and will shine nightly until New Years. The decorations were erected by the Retail Merchants association co-operating with the city's business and financial institutions.

DAVEY SEEKING PUBLIC HEARING

Wants Ohioans to Know All About Testimony Before Parole Grand Jury.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Governor Martin L. Davey indicated today he would ask for a public hearing if he is called to testify before the special Franklin county grand jury investigating purported pardon and parole irregularities in Ohio.

The governor said he wanted to have a public hearing so that rumors concerning the "imminent danger of death" pardon of Kenyon V. Painter, former Cleveland banker, could be "definitely laid to rest."

This presented a legal question as to whether the grand jury could hold a public session.

"My release of Painter may have been a mistake, but it was a mistake in judgment," Gov. Davey said.

The governor said he had heard rumors that a sizable sum of money changed hands in connection with Painter's release. He stated that he had "nothing to hide" in the Painter case.

Painter was sentenced to a one to 30 year prison term for misapplication of the old Union Trust company of Cleveland. He was transferred to a Columbus hospital because of heart trouble shortly after entering Ohio penitentiary. Less than four months after entering the prison he was pardoned.

APPEAL DENIED

Mansfielder's Suit Against Brother Rejected Again.

The Fifth district appeals court today had upheld a Richland county common pleas court verdict denying Miss Helen Beer of Mansfield damages in a $25,000 suit against her brother, Wilbur Beer, Mansfield, driver of an automobile in which she was injured in March, 1934.

The ruling affirmed a reversed decision after Miss Beer had won a verdict for $2,125 three years ago in common pleas court. When she brought a supplementary action against the Buckeye Union Casualty company of Columbus to collect on her damage judgment, the court ruled for the defendant company.

She appealed the case last August after her motion for a new trial was overruled.

Miss Beer sought damages for injuries she suffered when the car in which she was riding with her brother, allegedly as a paying passenger collided.

OLDEST PHYSICIAN, 105 TODAY, LOOKS OVER DIPLOMA OF 1852

LEBANON, Pa.—(AP)—The nation's oldest physician looked back today on 105 years of life and found it all "very fine."

Dr. William M. Guilford, whom the University of Pennsylvania claims as its senior living alumnus, sat quietly in his comfortable two-story brick home and greeted friends who came to congratulate him on attaining another anniversary, his 105th.

"Do you remember Louis Pasteur?" Dr. Guilford was asked.

"Louis Pasteur?" the doctor replied. "Yes, I remember that name,"

Pasteur did not develop his germ theories until nine years after Dr. Guilford received his parchment from the University of Pennsylvania in 1852.

A friend brought in the yellowed diploma and the doctor held it in his hands.

"I was very proud that day," he said.

Earlier this week the Good Samaritan hospital and the Lebanon County Medical society, both of which the doctor founded, announced they would conduct a William M Guilford clinic each day throughout his birthday week.

A committee from the university also motored to Lebanon to present his alma mater's greetings to the venerable physician, who spends his time reading politics and listening to political speeches on the radio.

Dr. Guilford retired at the age of 70.

The Great Game of Politics

—By FRANK R. KENT

A Call For Candor.

OF COURSE, it will not do it, but it would be a pretty fine thing if the Federal Trade commission, recently requested by the president to investigate reports that "monopolistic practices and other unwholesome methods of competition" have contributed to the increased cost of living which has taken place within the year—it would be a fine thing if, after a reasonable period of deliberation, the commission should tell him the truth—and tell it publicly, so the whole country could hear and understand.

BESIDES the incalculable value of a genuinely candid report, which would clarify the national mind, establish a noble precedent and check a dangerous trend, two other splendid purposes would be served. For one thing, it would be a rather thrilling demonstration of independence upon the part of a commission intended by congress to be independent, whose freedom from Executive domination has been expressly proclaimed as an inherent right by the Supreme court and whose worth, merit and justification for existence utterly disappear if it degenerates into a creature of the president, compelled to make the responses it knows the White House wants.

FOR THE other thing, a thoroughly frank and fearless reply to the presidential request would have the effect of dispelling a great deal of false pretense and to some extent at least, restoring faith in the honesty of governmental officials. It would deal a body blow to humbuggery in politics and greatly discourage the practice so common in this administration and amounting to calculated deception of the voters, of trying to divert their attention from painful and embarrassing facts by the dramatic introduction of a new line of thought. No one has done this more consistently and successfully than Mr. Roosevelt.

LAST YEAR, when the economy drive in the senate was gathering strength and resentment flamed against his acquiescent silence on the vital sit-down strike situation, the president diverted public attention by the great "tax dodgers" investigation. Six weeks ago, he got Mr. Justice Black and his Klan connections off the first pages by his sensational Chicago speech in which he seemed to challenge the aggressor nations of the world—but didn't. This request that the Federal Trade commission report upon the iniquity of monopolies in raising the cost of living is another herring, the real purpose of which is to cover the dreadful mess in which the New Deal flounders and shift responsibility for the enhanced burdens under which the people labor.

THERE IS HERE a marvelous opportunity to clear the national atmosphere by an exhibition of simple honesty. It is not necessary to be rude or rough. The commission might say with complete truth something like this: "In response to your letter, Mr. President, we respectively express the conviction that no such investigation as you request is needed. While it is possible some part of the increased cost of living is due to monopolistic practices, it is none the less clear that the great causes both for higher food prices and higher commodity prices are the policies pursued by your administration.

IT HAS been your frequently avowed purpose to elevate the standard of living for the people generally and bring about a better distribution of wealth. In the pursuit of these objectives you have increased the wages of labor, imposed heavier taxes upon business, shortened the hours of work. This, naturally, curtailed production and raised prices. It could not help but do so. In the field of agriculture, the raising of prices was the primary purpose of your policy. By controlling crop production, plowing under cotton, wheat, corn, killing little pigs and paying bonuses to farmers to plant less, food prices were naturally raised. There are pending today in congress two bills, sponsored and urged by you, which, if enacted, will still further add to the cost of living. One of these is designed still further to raise wages and shorten hours of work; the other is to impose crop control in a more drastic form, bound to raise food prices still higher. Combine these things with your tax policy and it seems incredible that anyone should think they could be operated without raising living costs. Considering all the facts, it seems completely ridiculous to ask us to conduct an investigation designed to fix blame for the high cost of living on 'monopolistic practices,' and we most respectfully decline to do so."

WHAT A gorgeous chance there is for the commission to strike a note that would ring through the nation! What a service it would be if they could bring themselves to the point of replying to the president with complete candor and courage! The interesting thing is that the commission is in a position to do exactly that, because the Supreme court, two years ago, in the Humphrey case, unanimously informed Mr. Roosevelt that he had no right to remove members of this or similar commissions because their minds did not march with his—that the basic theory of congress in creating these quasi-judicial boards was that they should be wholly free of executive domination. It's a grand chance, but they won't take it, although it is quite certain there are men on the commission who would love to.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

For 15 years—in vaudeville, on the air, in pictures—Billy Bletcher has been in show business. His weird ability to mimic anybody or anything practically stole away his own identity. He found himself becoming a "voice"—or many voices.

Once, on the air, he substituted for a famous comedian and listeners never knew the difference. When Hollywood's animated cartoons began to talk, Billy spoke for all of them. Vocally, he has been pig, frog, dog, rabbit, mouse, horse, cat, practically all the creatures of the animated screen. In spare time he has played parts in feature pictures, sung on the air. His tenor is trained for music, too.

Metro was launching a new series of talking cartoons, "The Captain and the Kids." For it, Bletcher was signed to a contract. He will speak for the Captain—and he cannot use that voice for any other purpose.

But he is still free to use the other 999 voices in his repertory. He calls it the ideal contract.

Annabella from France spent two days, soon after arrival at 20th Century-Fox, undergoing the usual Hollywood routine of experimental hair-dress and make-up. Each of the experiments required from one to two hours to apply.

"May I have just one test of myself as I like to look?" she asked.

Request granted, she spent 15 minutes with comb and her own vanity case, and stepped before the camera.

Next day, when Production Chief Darryl Zanuck saw the tests, he had the film stopped on a certain frame.

"That's the make-up," he said. "It's perfect."

It was—of course—Annabella's own. She'll use it in "Jean" opposite William Powell.

Sally Eilers was "abducted" the other morning.

Emerging from her home, she was surrounded by a gang of boys, ages 14 to 17, and ushered solemnly to the curb. There stood a worn old vehicle, once an automobile.

"Your autograph, please," commanded the gang leader, offering a brush dipped freshly in paint.

Sally effected her ransom payment smilingly. Her name went on the car amidst others which kept it good company: Lombard, Gable, Richard Dix, etc.

The youthful leader had a list of other names. He showed it to Sally, explaining: "We paid $35 for this old bus. When we get all these autographs on it, we can sell it for $175!"

PLODDING RALLY LED BY STEEL, UTILITY SHARES

Power Stocks Benefitted By Talks Between President, Company Executives.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Steel and utility shares led a plodding rally in the stock market today.

Except in the higher priced shares, where advances of up to two points or more appeared, movements were mostly in fractions. Trading interest was small and activity slow.

Power company shares benefitted from the improved atmosphere surrounding the industry following talks between President Roosevelt and company executives earlier in the week. Rails were in fair demand and gains were general for this group.

Some short covering was said to be in process. Foreign markets were mixed.

Bonds showed an improved tone. Commodities pointed lower.

Market analysts, studying business trends, found a bit of cheer in Dun & Bradstreet's report that freezing weather had brought out, in some sections, a rising volume of retail trade. This was offset to a degree, however, by a downturn in industrial centers where the current recession has resulted in increased unemployment.

Also symptomatic of the present business outlook was the report of bank clearings, showing for the second straight week a sharp drop under figures for a year ago. The total in 22 cities for the week ended Nov. 24 was $5,283,273,000 against $6,527,449,000 in the corresponding 1936 period.

PLAN CENSUS RE-CHECK HERE

Mansfield to Be Scene of New Activity In Move to Count Jobless.

Results of the recent voluntary nation-wide census of unemployment conducted by the Post Office department, will be tested for accuracy by a house-to-house recheck covering several Mansfield city and rural mail routes, it was announced today by Postmaster Herman E. Homberger.

The re-check will be conducted by postal employes beginning Monday, and will continue until Dec. 4. Returns from the unemployment census cards will then be compared with the test census cards over these same mail routes in the city.

Cities and routes over which the test census will be made were selected at a drawing by Vice President John N. Garner, and will be known only by the postmaster and those making the re-check. Homberger said Postal mail carriers will start out on these routes without previous notice.

Questioning asked on the re-check will be similar to those asked in the first census. The name and age of each person over 14 years of age will be asked. Results of this check will then be compared with those received from the same homes in the first unemployment check, as to accuracy

"Asta" In Film.

"Asta," the wiredhaired terrior who scored a big hit in "The Thin Man," and "After the Thin Man," plays an important role in the romantic comedy, "The Awful Truth," at the Ohio. The lively canine star is cast as "Mr. Smith," in the screen attraction starring Irene Dunne and Cary Grant. The film tells of the madcap adventures of a couple who are divorced, yet in love with each other. 'Mr. Smith," is a big factor in helping to straighten things out. Others in the cast include Ralph Bellamy, Cecil Cunningham, Alexander D'Arcy and Robert Allen.

Undersea Film.

"Submarine D-1," a drama dealing with the exploits of Uncle Sam's undersea boats and the gallant lads who man them, is the current feature at the Madison theater Pat O'Brien and George Brent are co-starred in the film. The plot has largely to do with certain devices developed by the two stars . . . one for sending imprisoned men in a sunken submarine to the surface safely by means of "an lungs," another for raising the vessel itself. Wayne Morris and Doris Weston provide the love interest. Frank McHugh is cast as an ordinary gob.

"Hollywood Roundup."

Buck Jones heads the cast in "Hollywood Roundup," one of the features at the Majestic theater through Saturday. The western star plays the role of a daredevil stunt man and double for a Hollywood cowboy star of the conceited, powder puff variety. Afraid to attempt the hazardous feats and escapades himself, this star, played by Grant Withers, envies and dislikes Jones, because of his nerve and ability. The action becomes thick when they both fall in love with Helen Twelvetrees, the heroine of the film. The second picture is "Thunder in the City," with Edward G. Robinson and Luli Deste in the leading roles.

"Super-Sleuth."

"Super-Sleuth," the film fare at the Ritz Saturday only, is based on the plight of a conceited and easy-going screen star who has won distinction for his detective roles in pictures, upon being plunged into a real-life murder mystery which he has to solve to save his own life. Jack Oakie tops the cast which includes Ann Sothern, Eduardo Ciannelli, Edgar Kennedy and Alan Bruce. "The Singing Buckaroo," is the second feature. Joe Penner, Parkyakarkus and Harriet Hillard in "New Faces of 1937," and "Youth on Parole," with Marian Marsh and Gordon Oliver," provide the entertainment through today.

HUNDREDS SPURN JOBS IN CINCY

2,000 Show Up For Work But Only 500 Take City's Offer.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—A police-estimated crowd of 2,000 persons took City Manager C. O. Sherill at his word today that the city had work for every man who was willing, and eligible for relief.

James Lewis, employment manager, told them to march to the city workhouse where, he said, they would be put to work at 50 cents an hour, tearing down old buildings and cleaning up premises.

Some 500 obeyed en masse. Others drifted away in smaller groups until about half of the crowd had disappeared, Lewis reported.

Hallabrin, Nash, and Glass Rate Berths on All-Ohio Eleven.

By OSCAR RUHL

THE All-Ohio scholastic football team will be released within a short time, and Mansfield is anxiously awaiting the selection because it is interested in knowing whether John Hallabrin is a member.

Personally, we can't see how they can keep the spectacular halfback off the club, and neither can a lot of other persons. Not only in Mansfield, but elsewhere.

Although he has never seen Hallabrin in action, Jim Schlemmer, Akron Beacon-Journal sports editor, has heard a lot about the Tyger, and stated in a recent article, "Three of the All-Ohio backfielders must be Bob Nash of Akron West, Bob Glass of Massillon and John Hallabrin of Mansfield, or the team will be no more representative of the best in the state than will that newspaper syndicate's All-Ohio team which is being picked to play a Florida All-star team in St. Petersburg, Fla., and to which Bob Nash is not eligible. He is a Negro."

Hallabrin, Glass and Nash are three of the outstanding backs in Ohio, it must be admitted. A rank injustice will be done if any one of the three is not selected to the All-Ohio.

If Hallabrin is selected, it will mark the third straight year that Mansfield has been represented on the All-Ohio. Gaylord Bucher was named on the team two years in a row at a guard position. Age cost the ineligible Bucher the opportunity to become the first player ever to win a place on the team three successive years. At that we believe Bucher was the only sophomore ever selected to the team.

While Hallabrin is probably Mansfield No. 1 candidate for recognition, a number of other Tygers have been recommended, we understand. The two ends, Dan Stehle and Elmer Dials, will also receive consideration.

* * *

Now for the weekly selections. We pick Navy over Army, Pittsburgh over Duke, Fordham over New York U., Stanford over Columbia, Holy Cross over Boston college, Notre Dame over Southern California, Baylor over Rice, Texas Christian over Southern Methodist, U. L. C. A. over Missouri, Georgia Tech over Georgia, Louisiana State over Tulane, Nebraska over Kansas State, Michigan State over San Francisco, Villanova over Los Angeles Loyola, Auburn over Florida, Oklahoma A-M over Centenary and Santa Clara over Gonzaga.

ODDS 'N' ENDS: Carl Kaplanoff, recently elected a co-captain, is the third Bucyrus boy to win outstanding grid recognition at Ohio State. Remember George (Red) Trautman, now president of the American Association, and Dr. Cyril (Truck) Myers, who also captained a team. . . .Myron Prech, Mt. Vernon cage coach, was a star in the winter sport at Ohio Wesleyan. . . .Add to Bowl games: Tobacco Bowl-planned for Louisville. Marshall. Buckeye champion is sought for it . . Never until the Notre Dame game had Bernie Bierman, Minnesota coach, lost a game to a team he has personally scouted.

JOHNSVILLE WINS, 53-15

Shaffer Leads Winners as They Register Last Victory.

JOHNSVILLE—Johnsville high school's cage machine opened its season here Wednesday night by walloping Eden township, 53 to 15. The winners grabbed the lead in the opening period and were never headed. At the half Johnsville held a 26-10 advantage. Shaffer, the winner's star forward, led both teams with 23 points. Smith topped Eden with five.

THREE TEAMS DOMINATE ALL-MID-STATE ELEVEN

Madison Champions Place Four on Mythical Club; Bellville, Mt. Gilead Well Represented.

THE champion Madison high school eleven, one of five undefeated and untied Class B clubs in Ohio this season, Mt. Gilead and Bellville dominate The News-Journal mythical Mid-State league team selected with the aid of the coaches.

Madison places four players on the all-league team, Mt. Gilead and Bellville, which finished second and third, respectively, three apiece, and Loudonville one.

These four teams, along with Danville and Butler, provide the players for the second team. Fredericktown, which failed to win a league game, is the only team not represented in either selection.

Madison is represented by Harmon, W. Wilkins, Priess and Au on the first team, with R. Wilkins, Moritz and Joe Miller placing on the second eleven.

Weller, Kubbs Place

The Mt. Gilead representatives are Weller, Kubbs and Talmadge, first team, and McClelland and Lee, second team, while Bellville place Clever, Balliett and Kilgore on the first team and Bollinger and Garber on the second selection.

Derrenberger is the lone Loudonville player on the first team, but Krause and Carter win recognition on the second eleven. K. Miller of Butler and Lanning of Danville are honored on the second team.

Virtually all of the first team selections are unanimous. The berth winners on the second team also won clear-cut claims for recognition.

The backfield consisting of Kubbs, Harmon, Balliett and Weller was selected without a dissenting vote. The only other back in the league a serious threat for a first team berth was Carter of Loudonville, probably the outstanding defensive backfield man in the league.

Wilkins, who set a new record for points scored by a lineman, and Talmadge, are popular end selections, with Moritz and Bollinger close seconds. Clever and Priess are also unanimous choices at the tackles, with Krause running a close second.

Head Guard List

Many guards were nominated for berths, but Au and Kilgore won the edges in the balloting. The selection of Derrenberger to the center post was unopposed. R Wilkins and Wright of Mt. Gilead were Derrenberger's chief rivals.

The backfield consisting of Lanning, K. Miller, Carter and J. Miller is probably the strongest ever to grace a News-Journal second team.

BEARS NEAR GRID TITLE

Defeat Lions, 13-0, to Gain Strangle Hold.

CHICAGO —(AP)— Whenever the Chicago Bears are hard pressed, all they have to do is put their best foot forward.

Their best foot, or perhaps toe is technically more correct, is the property of Big Jack Manders, most competent field goal artist in the national professional football league. His two accurate kicks yesterday were enough to defeat Detroit's hardy Lions and give the Bears a strangle-hold on the circuit's western division title.

Intaking a big step toward clinching the right to meet the eastern section titleholders, Chicago whipped Detroit 13 to 0 before 25,000 spectators at Detroit.

Chicago, with games remaining against Cleveland and Chicago's Cardinals, neds a tie or win to clinch western section honors. The Bears have won seven games, lost one and tied one.

In the other Thanksgiving day pro game, Brooklyn earned a 13-13 tie with the New York Giants, favorites to win the title in the eastern sector.

Shiloh Beats Union, 38-17

R. Moser Leads Twin Valley Club to First Victory.

Shiloh high's Twin-Valley league basketball representatives raised the curtain on their 1937-38 season Tuesday night by smothering a smaller Union, formerly Weller, quintet, 38 to 17, in a non-league tilt played on Union's hardwood.

The rangy Shiloh club hopped into an early lead and dominated the entire battle. The winners established themselves as one of the favorites to cop the Twin-Valley title with their brilliant shooting and defensive work.

Paced by its two stellar forwards, J Moser and R. Moser, Shiloh hit the hoop with regularity to pile up a 14 to 3 lead in the opening period. It increased the advantage to a 22 to 8 count at the half.

The Twin-Velley outfit unleashed a sharpshooting attack in the third stanza and as play was resumed in the final chapter had increased its lead to a 36-16 count.

R. Moser accounted for 14 points, while J. Moser was close on his heels with 12. Baker led the losers with seven.

Cardinal Boss to Try Grid Coaching Tactics.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Football coaching tactics, from skull practice to a coaching tower and a megaphone, will be used by Frankie Frisch, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals when he puts his Gas House Gang to work at spring training in March.

"I've been thinking of it ever since the season closed," Frisch said. "I'm going to have a platform built and I'm going to get me a megaphone that'll make me heard all over the field."

KIPKE ONLY ONE ON PAN

Other Big Ten Coaches Sure To Retain Posts Another Season.

By WILLIAM WEEKES

CHICAGO — (AP) —The moving man is not likely to do very much business right away with this neighborhood's major college football coaches.

In the Big Ten conference all is serene among the men who get the credit and take the raps for what the gridiron warriors accomplish, or fail to do, with the exception of Harry Kipke at Michigan who has been feeling that autumn "heat" again this year.

May Retain Job

Kipke, who now has had a year of suffering for each of his four great championship seasons, probably stands as good a chance of keeping his job as of losing it, however, since his Wolverines were improved enough to break even in eight games. Last year they dropped seven out of eight.

Kipke's connection at Michigan is on a year-to-year basis, and he will not know until next spring whether he will be retained. Alumni groups, however, have rallied to Kipke's support.

The records of Bernie Bierman, developer of Minnesota's championship teams, a year-to-year man, and Francis Schmidt who has just finished the first season of his second three-year "gentlemen's agreement" at Ohio State, offer the "wolves" no encouragement. Bo McMillin is making Indiana glad he is signed to a long-term contract. Lynn Waldorf enjoys a similar position at Northwestern.

Illinois hasn't piled up victories, but Bob Zuppke has kept every one happy by squeezing upsets out of his mediocre material, and Clark Shaughnessy's Chicago bosses are not much concerned over defeats. Iowa did not expect too much of Irl Tubbs in his first year and will give him at least one more year in which to get going.

Jcb Waits for Noble

Noble Kizer, forced by illness to turn Purdue's football affairs over to Mal Elward this year, will find his job waiting whenever he is able to return. Notre Dame is more than satisfied with Elmer Layden.

Ohio Claims Best Defensive Record In Conference

By STEVE SNIDER

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Failure of the Big Ten to produce a national football champion this season disappointed everyone but the league's statistician and today's his day:

BEST OFFENSIVE TEAM — Minnesota's Big Ten champions. They rolled up 184 points in eight games; 100 points against five conference foes.

BEST DEFENSIVE TEAM—Ohio State. The Bucks gave up 23 points in eight games, 10 points—all to Indiana—in conference play.

BIGGEST CROWD—68,291 saw Ohio State defeat Texas Christian at Columbus.

LONGEST PUNT — George Fowler, Indiana halfback, kicked 80 yards from the line of scrimmage as the Hoosiers downed Illinois.

LONGEST TOUCHDOWN RUN —Bernie Jefferson of Northwestern returned an Iowa State kickoff 85 yards for a touchdown.

MOST CONSISTENT PUNTER —Nile Kinnick of Iowa, who averaged 43 yards in his first year of competition.

BEST SOPHOMORE BACK —Kinnick again. He made most All-Conference teams.

SWEETEST VICTORY — Purdue's 13 to 7 triumph over Indiana. This is one of the bitterest rivalries in the conference and the old oaken bucket had rested too long at Indiana.

BITTEREST DEFEAT — Chicago's loss at Michigan. For 54 minutes it looked as if Chicago finally had a victory. Twelve points behind, Michigan scored twice, converted once.

MOST DISAPPOINTING TEAM —Purdue. Gamest eleven in the league after losing Coach Noble Kizer for the season, they had a world 'of stuff but couldn't make it work.

SURPRISING COMEBACK — Michigan's. Three conference victories—all by one point.

MOST INTRICATE PLAY—Ohio State, of course, although the Bucks have begun to drop their razzle-dazzle. Against Indiana, Ohio took the kickoff. On second play Fullback Johnny Rabb took a direct pass from center, handed the ball to Guard Gus Zarnas who pulled out of the line. Zarnas whipped a 32-yard pass to End Fred Crow who ran 18 more yards before being downed.

BEST BET FOR NEXT YEAR —Tab Illinois. Bob Zuppke gets back 19 of his first 22 men and picks up four freshmen backs good enough to play right now.

Meder Rolls Perfect Game In Sanctioned A.B.C. Match

20-Year-Old Youngster First Mansfield Bowler Ever to Achieve Feat In Competition—Hangs Up Record 781 Total.

TWENTY-YEAR-OLD Clarence Meder is the man of the hour in Mansfield bowling circles.

"Sonny," as they call him, gained a place for himself in the pin game's hall of fame Wednesday night when he rolled a perfect score while bowling with the Miller Oldsmobiles in the City Class A league at the Meder alleys.

Young Meder not only established a new league record with his perfect game, but became the first Mansfield bowler ever to roll a 300 score in a sanctioned A. B. C. circuit.

In addition, the youthful bowling star set a new league three-game record with a 781 total which he rolled as he led the Doug Miller team to a 3138 score, a new season record, and three victories over the Liederkranz club.

The perfect game was the second rolled by Meder. However, it was his first in league play. His other perfect tilt was rolled in a practice match.

Hilborn Rolled Pair.

The only other Mansfielders ever to score perfect games were Art Hilborn, who also has rolled a pair; Bill Donnellan, Roy Craig and Duke Weber, but they were shot in practice tilts.

The only other 300 games ever rolled on the Mansfield lanes were scored by Dominic Pompien of Lorain, who accounted for two while bowling in Northern Ohio Traveling league matches at the Meder alleys two years ago.

Meder, who rolled scores of 257 and 224 in addition to his 300 in his record-breaking string, is rapidly becoming established as Mansfield's leading pin buster.

The Mansfield high school graduate has been a bowler ever since he was large enough to hold a ball, and has developed one of the most effective balls in the city. Meder, who started competitive bowling in the smaller Mansfield leagues, has been one of the leading pinsters since his advancement to the bigger circuits.

Bowls Like Veteran.

In rolling the perfect game, Meder bowled like a veteran many years his senior. He did not become excited as he swept the pins to the pit time after time while a crowd of wide-eyed onlookers crowded around the alley.

Every ball that Meder threw drove into the "1-3" pocket, and his deadly accuracy is seen in the fact that not a pin was left lying on the boards.

Clarence, assistant to his father, M. S. Meder, owner of the Mansfield alleys, is destined to reach great heights in this bowling game.

The perfect game qualifies young Meder for the "300" tournament, open to all 300 rollers, held in conjunction with the A. B. C. each year. He will also receive a medal from the A. B. C. for the feat.

The Oldsmobiles put together scores of 1017, 1056 and 1065 for a clean sweep over the Leiderkranz club. Art Hilborn and Brig Young shot respective scores of 633 and 620 for the Olds.

In the other matches, the Roma Lunch, led by Applan's 634 and Bernat's 630, rolled a 2920 total to win two games from the Metcalf Pure Oils, paced by Thomas' 649, and the Lumbermens Mutuals shot a 2891 total to take three games from the Meder Recreation. Smith came through with a 673 (194-244-235) for the Mutuals, and Phillipon rolled a 632.

Field Goal Keeps 'Bama Slate Clean

By DREW MIDDLETON

NEW YORK—(AP)—Propelled by the accurate toe of gangling Hayward Sanford, Alabama's unbeaten eleven lands plumb in the middle of the most muddled Rose Bowl situation in years.

Young Mr. Sanford booted a field goal for the Alabam' boys yesterday to beat Vanderbilt, and the harried gentlemen who must pick the outland representative called for another gross of aspirin. If Pitt beats Duke and Fordham does the same to New York university, Saturday, there will be three major claimants.

The 9 to 7 triumph admits Alabama into the charmed circle but Duke stands in the way of Pitt. The Blue Devils are no small obstacle. Fordham on the other hand has a small obstacle, Dr. Stevens' Violet operatives being noted more for cleverness than size, but the obstacle was just as small a year ago and the Fordhams haven't got over that 7-6 defeat yet.

103,000 Expected.

All this is all very important to the teams that hope to be tapped for the Rose Bowl society, but the biggest crowd of the day will congregate at Philadelphia for the Army-Navy meeting.

Here, despite sorry seasons for the service teams, brass hats and plebes and dowagers and debutantes will gather to the number of 103,000

The stirring events at Nashville yesterday can't quite eclipse the equally uproarious events at Philadelphia. There Cornell and Pennsylvania closed the 'ivy' league season with a burst of offensive football that brought a 34 to 20 score with the Cornells on top and 61,000 fans in various stages of hysteria

Cornell old blues are sure you need look no further than Tomkins, county, New York, for the next 'ivy' champion Stymied by Penn's cool gambling with the forward pass and tied 20-20 at the start of the fourth period, the Big Red broke loose to score two touchdowns with an awesome display of overland power.

These two games stood out on a Thanksgiving day program that was a far cry from the old days of a dozen or more turkey classics.

Duquesne provided some excitement by tripping Detroit and Brown proved the wisdom of substitution by downing Rutgers, 7-6, on a 95-yard run back on the kickoff by Frank Foster.

Maryland's Terrapins trimmed Washington & Lee, 8 to 0, to leave the Southern conference championship well up in the stratosphere. North Carolina, a strong claimant for the title, ran all over Virginia, 40 to 0, in a game with no bearing on the conference standing.

Maryland's conference record shows two victories in as many starts, while the Tar Heels have won four and tied one in conference competition. Clemson had a hand in the title pot until it was tied by Furman, 0-0, yesterday.

Downs Kentucky.

Elsewhere in the south, Tennessee downed Kentucky, 13 to 0, and Mississippi State edged out Mississippi, 9 to 7.

The Big Six title resolved into a Nebraska sinecure as Kansas and Missouri played to a 0-0 tie. The Cornhuskers can win by either tying or beating Kansas State.

Texas A. and M. made a first quarter touchdown stand to beat Texas, 7 to 0, in a conference game in the southwest and Arkansas whipped Tulsa, 28 to 7.

Byron White, the Colorado whizzer, went all out to trim Denver, 34 to 7, a victory that gave the undefeated, untied Buffaloes the Rocky Mountain conference championship with six straight wins Utah downed Utah State, 27 to 0, and Montana rallied to beat North Dakota, 14 to 3.

Blue Streaks Stop Fremont

Sandusky, the only team to defeat Mansfield high this year, closed its season with a brilliant 24-0 victory over Fremont in Sandusky before 8,000 yesterday. The victory gave the Blue Streaks their fourth consecutive Buckeye league title. Gene Balconi and Al Gant divided the four touchdowns tallied by the Blue Streaks.

Mt. Vernon, which finished second in the N. C. O. conference, ripped Coshocton, 19-0, in its final game of the season at Mt. Vernon yesterday. Miller, Hull and Bumpus scored for the Jackets.

New Castle, the only team to defeat Massillon this year, was felled by Sharon, 7-0, in New Castle yesterday.

Youngstown East's claims to the Ohio grid championship were blasted by Youngstown Chaney, 6-0, yesterday in their meeting before 15,000 It was East's first setback

Invitation to Bowl's What Crowley Wants.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A Rose Bowl invitation for Fordham would provide Jimmy Crowley with about the greatest personal triumph ever accorded a young football coach. "Sleepy Jim" was in the Rose Bowl once before, in 1925, when he and his fellow "Four Horsemen" of Notre Dame ran a Stanford team ragged, 27 to 14.

In the event California looks with favor upon Fordham's claims, Jim would become the second Bowl player in history to come back with his own gang. Wallace Wade, who played for Brown in the 1916 Rose Bowl game and subsequently took three Alabama teams there, was the other.

IDLE DENISON SLIDES INTO OHIO THRONE ROOM

Reserve's 6 to 0 Victory Over Case Gives "Big Red" Undisputed Championship.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Denison's Big Red team perched on top of the Ohio collegiate football ladder today and Cincinnati's hapless Bearcats sat on the bottom rung as the 1937 season drew to a close, leaving only post mortems for fans who wished to fill in the interlude before basketball makes its appearance.

Denison was idle as the Thanksgiving grid menu was served up but Western Reserve donated the mythical state championship to the Big Red by dropping Case's Rough Riders 6 to 0 on an icy field that turned to mush in the second half Johnny Wilson intercepted a Case lateral and galloped 55 yards for the touchdown.

Wins Scoring Honors.

Miami defeated the University of Cincinnati 14 to 0 in another Turkey day tilt and Charley Metzger, Miami senior, won the statewide individual scoring championship, by accounting for one of his team's touchdowns. It gave Metzger just enough points for the season to shade Johnny Lucas, Western Reserve sophomore, 60 points to 54.

Johnny Popov threw a pass to Harry Mittwede for 35 yards in the first quarter and a touchdown running Cincinnati's all-season scoring record to 18 points It was one of the most disastrous seasons in U. of C. history.

Toledo's Rockets had their fuses stamped out, 8 to 6, when three Xavier Musketeers nailed Dick Craig behind his own goal line in the final period to register a safety and the margin of victory in one of the day's biggest upsets. Both teams scored in the third period and failed to make kicks good.

A 15-yard, second period pass, netted Wilberforce a 6 to 0 victory over West Virginia State in the only other Ohio game

Marshall, winner of the Buckeye conference with five straight victories, squashed West Virginia Wesleyan 27 to 0 in the mud, giving the Thundering Herd an undefeated season.

Denison's season record of six victories, one defeat and one tie, was good only for second place in the Ohio conference Baldwin-Wallace took the daurels in that loop with four consecutive conference wins

OHIO LEADERS

	W.	L.	T	Pts.	Op.
Denison	6	1	1	113	38

Wooster	6	2	0	119	57
Toledo	6	3	0	128	96

However, of the 35 teams in the state, the Big Red and Ohio Northern were the only ones with a "one defeat" record, but the Polar Bears were deadlocked three times. The state had no undefeated teams this season.

Ohio clubs broke even in 87 jousts with out-of-state foes during the year. The Buckeye teams won 41, lost 41 and drew even in five.

NEXT MORNING
NO, GEORGE --- I'LL TRY ANOTHER BRAND TODAY. LET ME HAVE PHILLIES. WANT TO SEE IF THEY REALLY ARE FREE OF BITTER, BITEY, RASPY TASTE.
PHILLIES CAN'T BE BITTER AND BITEY, MR. JONES. BAYUK OWNS A PROCESS THAT TAKES THE BITTERNESS AND BITE FROM THE TOBACCOS. PHILLIES IS BY FAR MY BEST-SELLING CIGAR.
SAY, GEORGE, YOU'RE RIGHT ABOUT PHILLIES, SMOKED THREE TODAY- AND FOUND THEM ALMOST TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE. NO BITTERNESS OR BITE --- AND EVERY INCH IS MILD. THAT BAYUK PROCESS CERTAINLY MAKES PHILLIES A PLEASURE TO SMOKE.

WHY PHILLIES ARE FREE OF BITTER, BITEY, RASPY TASTE

Bayuk selects and buys for PHILLIES the finest and mildest types of Havana, Domestic and Sumatra tobaccos. They are the very pick of the crops.

All PHILLIES tobaccos are aged and mellowed for at least two years—and are cured by the same methods used in making the most expensive cigars . . . BUT BAYUK DOESN'T STOP HERE.

Bayuk owns an exclusive, patented process that removes the bitter oils and harsh elements that ordinary curing methods don't, and can't, get out. No other cigar manufacturer can use this process.

YOU'VE DATE ON 18TH FOR SHOW

Annual Christmas Event to Be Staged at Ohio; Midnight Program Scheduled.

going to save the details until later.

The show, as well as the entire Christmas basket project has come to be a community affair, with hundreds of individuals, business concerns and clubs aiding in gathering food and raising money. Tickets for the show will again be sold by those who are interested in making Christmas a festive occasion for several hundred families in Mansfield and Madison township who are in need. The list includes the aged, the blind and crippled as well as families who have lost their means of a livelihood temporarily within recent months.

There will be just about as great a need for Christmas cheer this year as there was last, due in part to the business recession which has made many workers in the city idle.

The Salvation Army will take an active part in this year's Community Christmas basket program. Food supplies will be stored there and baskets will be given out from there on Dec. 24, with American Legion members and Adjutant David Brown in charge of the work.

A Community Christmas office will be set up on the second floor of The News-Journal building, which will serve as headquarters for the work of raising funds. The telephone number will be Canal 2525.

Mansfield club women will be asked to contribute canned goods and jellies as they have in the past, which will be used to "dress up" the baskets.

SEAL SALE GOAL SET FOR $4,000

Annual Drive to Raise Funds to Fight Tuberculosis Opens In County.

It returned $3,000 for the tuberculosis fund, and in the 30 years since then the annual receipts from the tiny seals have increased to millions of dollars.

The seal receipts in Richland county until last year were used for the county fresh air camp which has been discontinued. The analysis and treatment of tuberculosis cases is now centered in the clinic under Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner.

"The clinic needs all the money the health seals will bring in," Dr. Rehder said. "It was severely handicapped this year because of lack of funds."

The county tuberculosis association's report for 1937 shows 59 active tuberculosis cases in Mansfield. Attendance at the clinics since the first of the year has reached 110 patients in Mansfield and 58 in the county outside the city.

VOWS EXCHANGED AT ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

Miss Geraldine Sherer, Lester Dye United In Marriage—Open Church Observed for Wednesday Ceremony.

GENTLE flickerings from tapers burning in two seven branch candelabra at the altar blended with the soft even glow of the lights concealed behind the windows to make a mellow setting at St. Luke's Lutheran church Wednesday evening when Miss Geraldine Sherer, daughter of Mrs. Emma Sherer, Penn avenue, became the bride of Lester Dye, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh B. Dye, Huntington, Ind.

The service was read by Dr. H. S. Garnes before an altar decorated with two bouquets of white baby chrysanthemums and two beauty baskets of chrysanthemums in addition to palms and ferns.

Open church was observed at 7:30 p. m. for the single ring ceremony in which the bride was given in marriage by her uncle, C. W. Moore. The bride wore an ivory satin gown made in the empire style with a square cut neck and dainty shirring from waist to throat in front to contrast with the small satin covered buttons which closed the dress down the back.

Floor Length Gown.

The gown itself was of floor length reaching out in a slight train, and the sleeves were long, ending in points on either hand. The veil was double net fingertip length secured in a tiny juliet cap with a delicate strap below her chin to hold it in place. On her arm she carried a colonial shower bouquet of white baby chrysanthemums and Kilarney roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Lloy Bonar, wore a marble wine velvet long dress with a jacket and a matching hat with a small veil. Her slippers were silver and her flowers bronze pompons with Johanna Hill roses. Mrs. Sherer wore blue with brown accessories and a corsage of gardenias and Mrs. Dye wore black with a similar corsage.

Organ Music.

Mrs. Fred Cahall, played "Nocturne," "Gavotte" and "Liebestraum" preceding the ceremony. Miss Sherer and her uncle, Mr. Moore entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March. During the reading of the service she played "Oh, Perfect Love" and the party left the church to the strains of the traditional Mendelssohn melody.

Attending the bridegroom was his brother, Gerald Dye, Huntington, Ind. Ushers were Lawrence McClure, Lloy Bonar and Marshall Moore.

After the ceremony a reception was held for the immediate family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moore, Overlook road. Mr. and Mrs. Dye then left for a short motor trip to Kentucky. They expect to be at home at 220 Blymyer avenue within a week.

Wrong Love Will Wreck Happiness

By VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR MISS LEE: I am a married woman in my twenties and have four children. I have been in love with a man who is in my husband's family, and I love him more than anyone in the world, and have for some years. When he isn't with me I worry about him, thinking he will go with someone else.

"I know he loves me for he has told me more than once. I love my husband as the father of my children, and if I had to give him up I could never be happy on account of the children. It would break my heart to have to give up this man I have loved so dearly. He is so different. But we couldn't hurt my husband, for we both think an awful lot of him. Please give me an answer. What would you do?

"LONESOME MARY."

I hope I should try very, very hard to put the love I felt for this man away in some recess of my mind, shut the door, lock it and throw away the key. If this affair goes on it is bound not only to hurt your husband, but to hurt you and most of all, your children. It is wrong too, because as long as you keep this man dangling about you he won't go out with others and marry and have a home of his own, as any normal man wants.

You see, in my estimation it doesn't matter so much about your heart break. In my experience hearts don't do that little thing. They are made of very tough material which stretches, but it doesn't break. When a woman has a good husband and four children to think of she can't be very unhappy for long, for she has blessings that many women would give all they own to possess.

How can a woman sign herself "lonesome" when she is young and has a good husband, a home and babies? Your task is to stop thinking of yourself as the heroine in a beautiful romance, and to see with clear eye that if you go on letting another man make love to you, sooner or later your husband is going to find it out and it will be his heart that will stretch to breaking point because of the disloyalty of his best friend and his wife. That will spoil your home and your little children will be made miserable. You see your heart is a small thing when you consider all these angles.

I am not unsympathetic, but I do feel that a wife and mother should sternly discourage such feelings as those to which you confess. You should encourage this other man to go with other girls, instead of worrying because you may lose him. What happiness will come to him through loving you? None, only heartache and futility. He should be courting someone who is free to give him her love and make a home for him. If you loved him in the right way you wouldn't keep him. Only through the sacrifice of yourself will you achieve permanent happiness. Don't let your emotions rule you—and later wreck your life, please.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

AT MY mother-in-law's announcement that she wanted to hear the thrilling story I had promised to tell her after luncheon, my eyes flew to Dicky's in panic. Would he hold me to the tentative promise I had made him not to mention Queen Olga's missing emeralds, or would he consent to give to his mother, who is eminently discreet, the melodramatic thrill, so dear to her, of being part of a mystery?

He looked from my face to hers for the fraction of a second. That the interval seemed as interminably long to his mother as it did to me I knew when she said impatiently and with the keen insight which is hers:

"Well, what are you waiting for? Richard's permission? If so, it's the first time I ever knew you to ask it about anything you wanted to say."

I hope I did not look as helpless as I felt, for without Dicky's signal I had no answer ready for her. But he was magnificently equal to the occasion, as well as surprisingly relieving to me.

Mother Irritated.

"I'm training her, Mother," he said gravely, "beating her up every Saturday night, whether she needs it or not. She'll be a perfect patient Griselda, size 20, by the time I get through the present course of sprouts. However, this time, she hasn't yet seen fit to consult me about the story she means to tell you. The glance she sent me just now, which you so cleverly intercepted—does nothing get by you, old girl?—was simply the helpless appeal of a lady lion caught in a breach of discipline and looking toward the tamer for the expected whip."

"Richard, will you stop that ridiculous farrago?" she demanded. "Say whatever you have to say immediately."

"Anything to oblige," he answered coolly. "I suppose Madge means to tell you about Queen Olga's missing emeralds."

"Queen Olga's what?" she exclaimed with sparkling eyes, and for the next few minutes Dicky and I enjoyed ourselves immensely as we watched her fairly revel in the tale of the missing emeralds, of my father's quest of them, and of the cryptic note handed to us for my father the night before, which we all had agreed must have come from Jack Leslie.

But at the end of the tale, her thrilled exclamations dwindled away, and she fell suddenly silent. We watched her, also without speaking, and after a minute she lifted her head and looked at me solemnly.

Fears For Mary.

"Jack Leslie may have the emeralds, and be planning to get ransom or immunity for them," she said, "but you can depend upon it that he is also hunting a pearl of great price, and will leave no stone unturned to get possession of it."

There was something almost eerie in her voice, and I wondered if Dicky shared my feeling that a bit of ice was slithering down the spine.

"You mean Mary," he and I exclaimed together.

"Whom else?" she countered. "Mark my word, that man's more dangerous than a cobra, for a cobra isn't insane, and I think that man's head is affected with his obsession about getting revenge upon Mary and Noel."

Dicky and I exchanged quick glances, for she had voiced a belief we both held.

"I shan't have an easy moment while Mary is in the city," she went on. "Of course, Margaret will be with her, and she's a host in herself"—I felt like sweeping her a bow, but did not interrupt her—"but it will take more than a clever woman to cope with Jack Leslie. It needs the brute strength of men."

"Well, we can manage that Mother," Dicky said easily. "I think, myself, a husky bodyguard won't be amiss near that New York apartment."

"But Mary and Noel today have no bodyguard coming down," my mother-in-law said fearfully, but her sentence was cut short by the blast of a motor horn sounding joyous staccato notes, and the next instant a car, with Noel driving and Mary joyfully waving, turned in at the driveway.

DOING IT YOURSELF

ANYBODY who can add five cards in his own hand to four shown by his partner's bid, to three he sees in the dummy, can figure out easily enough that the declarer has a singleton. When that is the case, the thing to do is to make certain of a shift, and the only way to be sure of anything in this world is to do it yourself. If you give a discouraging card on the lead, your partner may shift to the wrong suit, whereas, if you overtake his card, you can lead the correct suit back yourself.

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

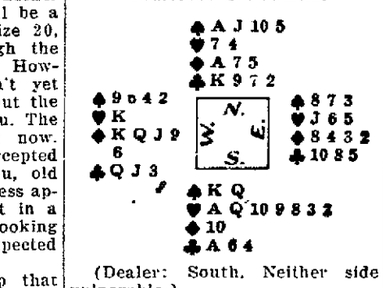
After East's 1-Spade bid, South overcalled with 2-Diamonds. West bid 2-Spades, North 3-Diamonds, East 4-Spades and South 5-Diamonds. West felt inclined to double this contract, but feared, with the raise by his partner and South's repeated bids of diamonds, that he might be void in spades.

When the spade K was led by West, East played a discouraging card and West switched to a heart. The diamond A was driven out and the thirteenth heart provided a spot for the losing club.

East informed his partner that the switch should have been made in clubs, but East could have taken the guess away from West, by simply overtaking the first spade lead and laying down the club K. Had he done this, it would not have been possible for South to have made the contract.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

Against South's 6-Hearts contract, West led the diamond K. What play should South make to insure the contract?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, Nov. 27.

While employment and dealings with elders or superiors should prosper, judging by the lunar and mutual aspects, there are angles calling for wise, shrewd and careful manipulating of current issues. There is a menace of subtlety, craft, even trickery, especially in connection with contracts or tacit agreements. With vigilance and the co-operation of wise heads, all should thrive.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of fair success in employment and in co-operation with superiors or elders, but beware of intrigue, subtlety, and, possible, downright trickery. Be careful with contracts, writings and secret agreements. And do not spurn advice or support of wiser heads.

A child born on this day may have, perhaps, "an old head on young shoulders," being deep, calculating and shrewd, but having its dreams and longings also. While having sound business ability, it may yearn for solitude and reverie

Shopping with Wynnie Wynchel

Now, the next PHOO we meet
Is Miss Mamie Van Fleet
Who for Christmas gifts never will shop
Till the day draws quite near
And is almost right here
Then she'll try to buy all at one stop.

But the thrift shopper wise
Shops the ads, and then buys
So I urge you to read and to think
Of the gifts you would buy
For your loved ones. That's why
All these snoops have been set down in ink.

He's thinking of his Christmas shopping, but he'll probably let it go until the last minute . . . be wise and do your shopping for him now at GOLDSMITH'S. I was snooping around in there again today looking at practical robes and I was surprised to find them as really smart looking as they are. Comfort, warmth, and style have been combined very successfully at GOLDSMITH'S. Flannel robes may be bought in solid colors, herringbone stripes, plaids, regular stripes . . . many with silk collars and cuffs in contrasting colors and designs. They have light weight silk robes for the man who travels a lot, also silk lined silk robes. Prices run from $7.95 to $27.50. There are wool smoking jackets selling from $7.50 to $9.95 . . . velvet smoking jackets at $8.95 (and what woman doesn't love to see THE man in one of those swank numbers?). Cocktail coats are $7.50 to $9.95 and, if you'd be really nice, there are trousers to match . . . they'd make him a grand lounging suit to complement that lazy feeling when you stay home by the fire. Whatever it is in men's wear that you'd buy him—you'll find it at GOLDSMITH'S at sensible prices and in authentic styles.

Nine out of every ten women will appreciate the gift of an electric appliance . . . the tenth must be the woman who has everything! At OHIO PUBLIC SERVICE CO. you'll find an array of gifts that should solve all Christmas problems . . . everything from electric alarm clocks and toaster sets to refrigerators and ranges . . . never forgetting the electric laundry equipment that makes life easier for every housewife . . . terms can be arranged at the OHIO PUBLIC SERVICE CO.

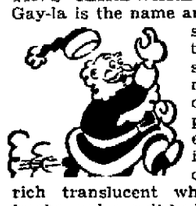
You'll want a lot of those slick "singing" tea kettles at MARTIN'S HARDWARE for gifts! Gay-la is the name and they are said to be the most sanitary made . . . completely porcelain enameled inside and out with rich translucent white catalin knobs and a polished aluminum whistle. They come in four colors—a clear bright green, a sunny yellow, a warm blue and a vivid red in triple coated enamel. They have quick heat conducting double black bottoms. They cost only $1.29 at MARTIN'S HARDWARE . . . see them in the windows there—you'll want one for yourself and some for gifts, too—practical yet unusual!



If each of those packages meant for a smart young woman contains a piece of costume jewelry from REED'S . . . . they'll be gratefully received . . . because by more snooping at REED'S I find more and more lovely things to please the youthful heart! Did you know that gold beads were again definitely "in"? They are! Every once in a while they pop back into general favor . . . and small wonder, too — they ARE flattering to most any kind of costume . . . in either dull or shiny versions. Charm bracelets will be very much with us for Christmas gifts. They have some very clever ones at REED'S . . . one for the swing conscious dance devotee carries drum, saxophone, trombone and clarinet . . . for those who would follow the fashion they say was set by the Duchess of Windsor there is a bracelet holding nothing but small crosses—all different types. For the young man who would hint, but delicately, Reed's have a bracelet that has in line a miniature telephone, a small gift-looking box, a wedding ring, and . . . a baby buggy. You'll find these and many other clever gift suggestions at REED'S.

Now that we're through that big Thanksgiving dinner . . . let's turn our minds to Christmas gifts! . . . and their wrappings. Have you seriously thought how important are the coverings that first meet the eye, of the receiver? Whether your gift is an expensive one, or just a small remembrance is not known at first glance . . . all one sees is the care and taste employed in wrapping the gift. If you're not good at that sort of thing or haven't time—trust it to RITTER'S. Just tell them whether it's for a man, woman, or child—they'll know just what to do. If you like to fuss with these pleasant occupations yourself—go to RITTER'S and look over carefully the very large and varied assortment of papers, ties, tags, and labels they have there. Remember, too, that the day is past when all packages were as beribboned as possible. Wrappings have been made especially for men's gifts. Solid colors or conservative designs in heavy paper may be fastened with clear cellophane to give a plain, yet pleasant appearance to the package. Children love their gifts in gay papers brought around from all sides of the package and tied on top with a gayly colored ribbon. Women are women, and want their gifts clothed with delicacy and imagination—you can let yourself go in colors, too. All you want to make the gift perfectly wrapped can be found at RITTER'S.

FAMED BALLET USHERS IN CIVIC MUSIC SEASON

Monte Carlo Dancers Perform Monday Night at Senior High Auditorium.

The first season of the Mansfield Civic Music association opens Monday night when the most famous ballet troupe in the world, Col. W. DeBasil's Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, is presented at the Senior high school auditorium.

The Russian Ballet, which is on its fourth tour of American cities, comes to Mansfield through an arrangement between the National Broadcasting company of New York City and the Civic Music association which is made up of 750 members from Mansfield and towns in this district.

Leonide Masine, distinguished among present day Russian dancers, who has appeared with the ballet in Cleveland, Cincinnati and other large cities on the present American tour, again heads the list of male stars. David Lichine, handsome and athletic and Yurek Shabelevsky, noted for his long leaps and head spins, will share leading roles with Massine.

Carries Own Orchestra.

All of the lovely ballerinas who have charmed European audiences will dance here, among them the dark Caucausian, Tamara Toumanova, blond Irina Baronova, Alexandra Danilova, noted for her dash and brilliance, and many others. Most of the ballerinas are young, some of them still in their teens.

The Ballet Russe carries its own orchestra and stage crews and carries scenery for 25 different ballets.

Col. DeBasil's Monte Carlo group is the outgrowth of the old Diaghileff imperial ballet, patronized by the Czar of Russia and which developed such dance immortals as Nijinsky and Anna Pavlowa.

Last year the American public paid $1,000,000 to see the ballet on its coast to coast tour. Mansfield is the smallest city in which it has ever played.

Last spring a membership campaign was made for the Civic Music association and 750 members were obtained to sponsor a season of three presentations. The first is the Ballet Russe. Two other musical events will be given during the winter. Admission is by membership only.

Appear In Ballet Russe Monday

Leonide Massine, distinguished Russian dancer, and two of the ballerinas who will be presented in the Ballet Russe which comes to Mansfield Monday night, as the first number on the winter program of the Civic Music association are shown above. The event will be an outstanding one in the season's entertainment, and the first time in the history of the famous Russian ballet that it has been presented in a city the size of Mansfield.

B. & O. SEEKS TO ABANDON LINE

Files Request With Utilities Commission: Trains Running to City Not Included.

The Ohio Public Utilities commission had before it today a petition from the Baltimore & Ohio railroad asking authority to abandon its line between Willard and Sandusky.

The request followed an order by the commission last week preventing the railroad from abandoning two passenger train running between Sandusky and Newark without a formal hearing. Both of these trains stop in Mansfield. Under the new request, service here would not be affected as the trains would continue to operate between Newark and Willard.

Dispatches from Columbus said the company stated in its petition that the operations on that section of the road between Willard and Sandusky had resulted in a monthly loss of $3,000. The commission assigned the request for the hearing Dec. 29.

Trains No. 47 and No. 48 which arrive in Mansfield at 10 55 a. m. and 6.56 p. m. were to have been discontinued on an order from division headquarters in Newark Nov. 15.

The order was cancelled when Commission Chairman Charles J Schaber, acting on complaints of shipping interests in communities served by the line, issued an order prohibiting the railroad from withdrawing the service without commission authority.

Crippled Girl Awes Audience at Church Services.

DRACUT, Mass. — (U.P.) — Lorraine Frechette, 16, crippled nine months by inflammatory rheumatism, suddenly stood up during services in St. Teresa's Catholic church and walked to an automobile unassisted.

The incident occurred during closing services of the Little Flower novena. The girl had been carried into the church by her brother Gerald, 17. During veneration of the relics, she called out to her father, Wilfred O. Frenchete:

"I think I can walk!"

While the parish watched in awed silence, she walked from the church unaided.

COST OF MEAT SEEN REDUCED BY 10 PER CENT

But Market Experts Believe Price Drop Won't Be Great Until Early Spring.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Meat prices will continue high until early next year and then probably will begin a gradual decline, according to Department of Agriculture market experts.

The supply of cattle, hogs and sheep on farms is the lowest in many years. The amount of feed available per animal is the highest on record. Winter feeding of meat animals is expected to be unusually heavy.

Fall marketing will be smaller because of cheap feed and the desire of growers to fatten their livestock as much as possible, government economists believe. The result will be continued high prices at least through early winter.

Farmers, also will hold back more cattle, hogs and sheep for breeding. Increased meat production is expected to be reflected in heavy marketing of fat animals in the late winter and early spring.

Minor Recessions Probable.

Meanwhile, some minor recessions in prices of meat to consumers may be looked for as packers reduce storage stocks in anticipation of heavy marketings early next year, economists said. Reductions range from 5 to 10 per cent.

Cattle prices reached a top of $19.90 per 100 pounds on the Chicago market early this fall. This was the highest price paid since 1928. Top hog prices of $13.75 on the same market were the highest since 1926.

The number of cattle on feed in corn belt states on Aug. 1 was about 30 per cent smaller than a year earlier and the smallest for that date in many years, the department reported.

"Marketing of well-finished grain-fed cattle, therefore, will remain smaller than usual during the remainder of this year," it was said. "Prices of the better grades of slaughter cattle probably will continue near present levels."

POULTRY PRICES FALL OFF AFTER PRE-HOLIDAY RUSH; MEAT STEADY

With the demand falling off as a result of the heavy pre-holiday buying, poultry prices took a substantial drop today. Quotations on turkey, ducks, geese, and chickens were under the figures of earlier in the week.

The prices of pork, beef, lamb, and veal vary little with those of a week ago although prices on first grade beef fell off a little.

The fresh fruit and vegetable market offers a variety of foods which will carry through the entire meal from cocktail to nuts. Indications at present are that prices are about the same as they were before Thanksgiving.

Hothouse tomatoes, radishes, and cucumbers are still on the market in abundance. All kinds of fresh beans are available as are many green leafy vegetables. Markets are offering French, curly, and straight leaf endive, water cress, leaf and head lettuce, celery and celery cabbage.

Most of the common vegetables, including carrots, turnips, peppers, cauliflower, and beets are remaining at the usual fall prices. Artichokes, egg plant, leek, brussel sprouts, and mushrooms are plentiful, but they are still among the luxury foods. Both summer squash from California and Hubbard squash are available for the Sunday dinner table.

Red bananas as well as yellow, and fresh pineapple are making an appearance on the market. Other fruits which are available and which are remaining steady in price are pears, grapefruit, oranges, malage grapes, and cranberries.

GEORGE TO VISIT EDWARD'S DUCHY

King Is Expected to Inspect 120,000-Acre Estates In Three Counties.

LONDON—(U.P.)—King George is expected to tour the Duchy of Cornwall, once the apple of King Edward's eye as a model layout, now vested in the Crown.

According to present plans, the King will make a two-day visit to Cornwall, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1, and will not be accompanied by Queen Elizabeth.

The Duchy estates, totaling more than 120,000 acres, extend into Cornwall, Devon and Somerset, and the king will visit all three counties. He will see the Home Farm, at Stoke Climsland, from which the famous herds of Red Devon cattle once won prizes for Edward.

How George will get on with the Cornish folk is doubtful, for although Cornishmen boast of their loyalty to the King, they have recognized the present Duke of Windsor as their "ruler" ever since his birth.

For Edward was born Duke of Cornwall, a title handed down from royal father to eldest son, while he did not become Prince of Wales until he was in his 'teens.

When he abdicated, the Duchy, one of the wealthiest districts, with its oyster beds and cattle industry, in the kingdom, became vested in the king since George's eldest child is Princess Elizabeth and the title cannot be held by a girl.

NOISY PRAYERS

Pastor Given Suspended Sentence After Neighbors Protest.

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (U.P.) — Suspended sentence was passed here recently on Rev. E. N. O. Kulbeck because he prayed too long and too loudly. The 28-year-old pastor of Grace Tabernacle was convicted on a nuisance charge filed by neighbors who objected to the noise of his prayer meetings.

Islander Escapes After Head Slips Into Shark's Jaws

THURSDAY ISLAND, Australia (U.P.)—Iona, an island native, is believed to be the only man who ever escaped alive after his head had once passed into a shark's mouth.

Iona was diving for pearls when the shark attacked. Remembering an island tradition that a shark will drop its prey if its eyes are wounded, the diver succeeded in thrusting his thumbs into the shark's eyes just as his head passed into the man-eater's mouth. The shark released him, but not until it had inflicted severe wounds on his face, chest and neck.

The attack shattered another tradition that sharks will not attack dark-skinned persons.

MARCH, BACK ON STAGE, HAPPY

Movie Star, In World Premiere of New Play in Columbus, Likes the Change.

ever, for what man could feel at ease in tight knee breeches, stiff velvet coat and lace fol-de-rols? The actress was encased in a tight fitting bodice and a voluminous skirt with hoops—nothing in which to lay a weary body down, if you ask me.

Being a woman my first interest was whether March is as handsome "in person" as he is on the screen. He is!! His wife expressed it perfectly as they stood on the stage last night waiting for Cromwell to call the first act. March wears a wig of long, luxurious brown curls, which fits closely to his head and makes a frame for his finely chiseled features with their suggestion of melancholy.

"Freddy," she said as she looked at him closely, "you look—you look—" "Almost human?" he interrupted her hopefully. "No," she finished decisively, "you look almost too beautiful in those curls." He muttered a word under his breath which sounded like something that you don't use in a newspaper. The Marches are one of the couples in Hollywood who have managed to keep their marriage intact over a period of years, and his adoration of her is one of the legends of the city of matrimonial storm and strife.

She is much lovelier than her occasional appearances in motion pictures would lead you to believe. She is small, with auburn hair, dark eyes, a skin like a lotus flower and extremely small features. Her role in the play suits her beautifully for she is alluring and tantalizing in her love scenes, and a fiery-tempered shrew in her frequent quarrels with her husband.

• • •

"Yr. Obedient Husband" is extravagantly staged, but I shall be tremendously surprised if it makes a hit. The company plays in Columbus today and Saturday, moves on to Cincinnati, St. Louis, Detroit and Pittsburgh before it goes into New York the week after Christmas.

It is a costume play, all talk and no action. The lines are clever, but the plot is obscure. As a matter of fact, I still am not sure what it was all about. It is a period in the life of Capt. Richard Steele, early English essayist, wit and swordsman, and his love for the gorgeous Prudence whom he marries, and his complete domination at her hands. The entire action of the play is a series of quarrels and love scenes between Steel and his adored Prue, who storms out of his home one moment and languishes in his arms the next. The love scenes between the Marches have the stamp of enthusiastic sincerity.

But March is no forsaking the screen. "This is an adventure for Mrs. March and myself," he said. "We've both wanted to get back to the stage for a number of years, but my screen contracts always interfered. I have just finished two pictures, 'Nothing Sacred' with Carole Lombard which has just been released, and 'The Buccaneer,' finished but not released.

"I think it's good for every picture player to make regular journeys back to the stage — and many of them are doing it— because the stage, after all, provides the post graduate, as well as the elementary work in the art of acting.

"We would like to do two plays before going back to pictures— but we will go back, that's certain."

• • •

Millions of screen fans will look forward to his return, for no other player in pictures has given them so diversified a list of excellent characterizations — "Smilin' Through," "Design for Living," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "Les Miserables," "Merrily We Go to Hell," "The Royal Family," and more recently "A Star Is Born." And because he is one of the few really great actors of the screen, he made the transition from silent pictures to talking pictures with added prestige to his career.

If "Yr. Obedient Husband" is a success, it will be because of splendid acting and in spite of a none too interesting play.

CITY 'PERSONALITY-CONSCIOUS' AS SERIES OF LECTURES NEARS

Mansfield is becoming personality-conscious if the interest shown so far in a series of lectures on the topic at Senior high school next week is an indication.

The demand for free tickets to the lectures, which will be given by Howard J. Wisehaupt, nationally known business analyst and personality builder, is increasing daily, and indications are that the three talks will attract capacity crowds, according to Paul W. Williams, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Sponsored by The News-Journal, Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants association, the lectures will open Tuesday night. Talks will be given Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights in the high school auditorium.

A program of music was being planned today for each of the three meetings, Williams said.

Admission to the lectures will be by ticket only, and the public is invited to apply at The News-Journal office, Chamber of Commerce and retail stores for the complimentary tickets.

Wisehaupt will open his series with a lecture on "How to Earn More Money." He will follow with talks on "Personality in Business" and "How to Influence People."

Federal Board Considers New Vet Hospital For Ohio.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.) — Establishment of hospital facilities for disabled war veterans in northeastern Ohio is under consideration by the veterans administration, Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, veterans administrator, has disclosed.

Gen. Hines informed Senator Robert J. Bulkley, (D. Ohio), that a sub-committee of the federal board of hospitalization is engaged in a country-wide study of needs and that the advisability of a hospital for Cleveland is receiving attention.

George R. Fout, commander of the Ohio department of the Disabled American Veterans, had protested that northeastern Ohio veterans must now go to Chillicothe, Dayton, or hospitals in Indiana and Illinois, and that these institutions are already crowded.

The American moose, largest member of the deer family, reaches a height of 84 inches at the shoulders.

THE STATE vs. ELNA JEPSON

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

(Copyright 1937)

CHAPTER XXIV

"Come in, Betty," said Dr. Grayson. "Why didn't you say you had something to tell?"

"You didn't ask me," Betty answered, perching on the desk and lighting a cigaret. "First you know I was within one year of my medic degree when my father died and I had to keep the old fires burning. That's for qualifications. I'd planned to specialize in psychiatry. If Jepson pulled enough of these wingdings—honest ones, mind you—that because of her own honesty not even your experts could find her responsible, and then the defense flashed a degree of not guilty by reason of insanity and got by with it, where would you be? You'd be unable to try her ever again because of 'once in jeopardy'."

"And just when did you take to trying to throw the rope around a fellow woman's neck?" Betty had never heard Dr. Grayson's voice so cold and unfriendly.

* * *

"Well, it's not my place to bare my soul," Betty Burson said with her broad smile. "But here goes. Elna Jepson is sensitive, she is proud. She is under some great strain. It may have something to do with the case or not, but nobody will get it out of her by third-degree questioning.

"All we're interested in is this. She's had two severe breakdowns. I saw one and Mrs. Nielsen saw the other. But there's more to this than there seems. You can find out your facts for yourselves. But I don't want a brave and helpless girl sent to trial unable to face it as best she can, even if she fails. I don't want her broken, as you can break her."

"She has a lawyer to represent her," Grayson said.

"She will represent a lawyer, true—and God help him." Betty twisted the phrase purposely. "By the way, this is a confidential conversation between physician and patient—I have a sore toe. Neither is it a scoop. I've done all the talking, for one thing. But you'll at least come up to see Miss Jepson, just to show I'm not a liar. You might pick up something—she was unconscious when I left."

Dr. Grayson had creaked up from his chair when steps came running down the corridor. In a second Dr. Grayson was bending over his desk, writing a duplicate memorandum, and Betty was under the operating table with the drooping sheet concealing her. Dr. Grayson opened the door, the pen still in his hand.

"What's the idea?" came the harsh voice of a large man who prided himself on being hard-boiled.

"What idea? There are so many in my profession," The gray old man smiled his broadest smile.

"You know well enough. The idea of breaking up an arranged interview with the Jepson girl, spoiling it just when she was about to break. When she came to, she'd have answered anything, Nielsen says she has your orders not to let us in. A fine idea the police will have when we tell them what you spoiled for them."

Curly Lawrence had wormed his way forward and thrust the speaker back. "Dr. Grayson," he said suavely, "please forgive the bad manners just displayed. All that we must tell our papers is whether Miss Jepson is held incommunicado by your orders. It might look like special privileges, considering the family."

* * *

It was true that the papers could write of the "luxuries" and "privacies" accorded Elna Jepson because of her "aristocratic" name, and intimate that Dr. Grayson was obtaining these special privileges under a "fake" illness.

The round shoulders straightened. "Gentlemen and ladies," Dr. Grayson said in his old-fashioned way, assumed for occasions that seemed to him important. "None of you claims that Miss Jepson interrupted her interview voluntarily. You merely consider it your duty to use every means to renew it. I agree. As soon as Miss Jepson is sufficiently recovered, I'll immediately send word to the pressroom. Is that fair?"

"No chance at all for tonight?" a disappointed voice asked.

"None," Dr. Grayson answered firmly.

He closed the door. Betty waited three minutes to crawl out, kiss Dr. Grayson on the top of the head and call him an angel, crowing in addition that he'd find her right.

"I'll take a look at your lady friend," the doctor said. "Keep her in bed tomorrow morning anyhow."

"Mind if I come along?"

"I do," said Dr. Grayson, in the stern voice he used when he meant it. "Get your own news. You seem to do it. You can't see Miss Jepson before the others. I promised. But our interview is yours on a silver platter. You may use all those lurid statements and arguments of yours as my own statements, if you like. I know you'll be careful not to get the other boys too sore at me."

"Thank you." She clasped his hand quickly as the elevator stopped to take him upstairs.

Her eyes still shone as she rode down.

"And am I the 'sob sister,' who made the doctor so sorry for her in the end! And will I make something out of that interview, once I begin work at it?" Her face suddenly sobered. "And the crazy thing is, it's true. I did go down just to get the doctor for that girl."

* * *

Elna woke to a sunny morning in Mrs. Nielsen's bright little room, just as the cheerful matron bustled in with a tray containing a dainty breakfast of toast, eggs and real coffee, cooked on her own little stove. The breakfast was for two, and the matron sat down bumpily on the side of the bed to share it.

"But it's late," Elna said, rubbing her sleepy eyes.

The doctor gave you something to make you sleep late and told you to stay here until after he'd called, and maybe longer. Stay here—maybe till you leave us."

"The doctor?"

"He came at last, thanks to that blessed Betty Burson. She kept me sure that he'd come, when all them hyenas — though good enough boys and girls they are except as chasing a story—were saying I had no right to keep them out."

Elna's slim white hand reached out to clutch Mrs. Neilsen's plump one. "I was trying hard—I was doing my best, but I felt them all against me—I failed." Her eyes closed tightly without tears.

Dr. Grayson had warned Mrs. Nielsen against this. "Look at this!" she said warmly. "You'll want to see what the property clerk sent up."

* * *

The suitcase lay on her lap. She opened the toilet tray first. She had not had occasion to use it since Curtis gave it to her the Christmas before, with the card: "To a very fastidious lady." For the first time, she saw all the watchfulness, the casual questions, that had gone to the fitting of the tray.

As she closed the suitcase gently, a gray old man rose noiselessly from the seat he had occupied in Mrs. Nielsen's outer room, made a reasonably quiet knock on the door, and walked in with no further ceremony.

"How's the patient" His voice was brusque but not unpleasant. Mrs. Nielsen left the room at once. "I am the city doctor attached to the jail. Name of Grayson. Nevertheless, anything said between us as doctor and patient is held absolutely confidental by the courts. Understand?"

"At least I've known it quite a long while," Elna smiled.

"You see? The police have already noted the occupations of all your relatives. Most persons, in answer to my remark, would either not have known, and have thanked me, or would have given some casual reason for their knowledge. Instead, you were slightly nettled that I did not credit you with a knowledge of law. A smart policeman, noticing these things, would begin to look for some one else mixed with the case, some one who might have talked law with you."

* * *

Elna felt all the blood drain from her face, leaving it a white mask.

"You see" the doctor repeated. "Even a policeman would have noticed that you turned pale at the mention of the connection. But count yourself lucky, their minds don't work that way."

Elna leaned back with relief against the pillow.

"This is none of my business but I'll throw it in free" Dr. Grayson smiled. "If there is any more to the truth, or anything not the truth, tell it all to your attorney. Then tinker it any way you like—that's none of my business. But I have always found that both defendant and attorney are in better frame of mind if they are in complete confidence."

"I shall stand on what I have already said. I shall not change my story to my lawyer or you or any one. It may be a hard story to uphold, but I'll risk sounding silly. When I have chosen my own way, sure that it is the only honorable way for me, then I must follow it, whatever the consequences."

"Then you are reconciled to a trial. Are you in earnest about wanting to work as hard as possible for an acquittal?"

"Yes. I have never committed a crime in my life. But I shall make a poor public impression. I am not used to many, strangers even less to strangers who ask personal questions. I try so hard not to get frightened that I do, and then I get angry, and then all is wrong."

"Good girl!" Dr. Grayson chuckled. "You told the truth as near as you know it—more nearly, I think that you've known it before. You are not a psychiatric nor even a permanent neurotic. You just got hit too suddenly, too far off the beaten track. Now I can let you go on, banging your head against yourself and others, or I can keep you wrapped in cotton wool in here, so that the trial will hit you just as hard. In that case you can risk having these wingdings—not medical but police language—and hope they'll win you some sympathy from the jury. But they'll give your lawyer the jitters for fear you go haywire at the wrong time, which you probably will."

Fellow Workers Advised Him to Get World's Tonic at Once

No Matter How Much or How Little He Ate, Stomach Filled with Gas

Had Cramps, Shortness of Breath and Nervous Indigestion. All Due to Allowing Himself to be Constipated

"While sitting around eating lunch one day, I was telling how much I had suffered from indigestion and other troubles. When I had finished, several of my friends advised me to start taking World's Tonic at once," said Mr. James Webber, of 841 Yale St., Akron, O.

"That proved to be the best advice I ever received, because after taking it, my constipation was relieved and then I also got relief from the indigestion, nervousness and gassy stomach conditions. I eat everything I want now, but never feel bloated nor have that lump in my throat or feel short of wind.

"This also relieved the dizzy feelings that used to strike me, cleared the coating from my tongue and now I'm not bothered by dark spots before my eyes or that vile taste in my mouth, loss of memory, skeptical of friends.

"I used to suffer from swollen ankles and awful pains through my back and loins; and the calves of my legs hurt so bad it often kept me awake. In the mornings I was so stiff I felt as if I had been beaten with a club. But when World's Tonic relieved my constipation all these aches and pains were also relieved.

"I never had any medicine do so much good. Now I want to pass on the good advice my friends gave me and that is, if you are suffering like I did, start taking World's Tonic. It will help you."

World's Tonic is intended as a general medicine and does not require you to buy extra tablets or pills to get results.
